All Four of Them Will Remain
in the Service.

The Fourth Will Go to Knoxville
and the Third Will Probably Stay at Lexington.

Adj't. Gen. Corbin Saturday issued a list of all the volunteer troops that have been ordered mustered out, and also of the regiments that are to be retained in the service for the present.
Included in the list of troops retained until further notice are all four of the Kentucky infantry regiments, the One Hundred and Sixtieth and One Hundred and Sixty-first Indiana and the Four Tennessee regiments.

The Fourth Kentucky regiment has been ordered to Knoxville for fall and winter camp; the second will go to Anniston, Ala.; the First regiment is now in Porto Rico, where it will remain, and the Third is now at Lexington, but expects to be sent to Cuba, to do Garrison duty, early in the fall.

Mr. Eugene C. Gleaves will Travel
for the Cleveland Cycle Co.

Mr. Eugene C. Gleaves, the well known bicyclist of Gleaves & Son, has accepted a position with the Cleveland Bicycle company as traveling representative, with a territory in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Mr. Gleaves is one of the best known and most popular young men in Paducah, and that he will make an excellent representative goes without saying.

He expects to start out about October 1st, and may move his family temporarily to Dawson.

The Regular Meeting Will be Deferred Until Tomorrow.

The council will meet tonight in and adjourn over until tomorrow night.

The council and school board will then both be in session.

of Broadway.

Contractor Wm. Erler has notified
Mayor Lang that he has an extra

Broadway, and lay all the sewers to go North of Broadway before doing any further work south of Court.

The steamer Cowling will run
special excursion trip to Metropolis, Monday, Sept. 12, to accommodate all who desire to attend Ringling Bros. circus. Boat will leave promptly at 6 p. m. Round trip 35c. Per

FORMALLY OPENED.

Splendid Weather, Interesting
Ceremonies and Immense Crowds Mark the G. A.
R. Opening.

Cincinnati in Holiday Attire, and the Freedom of the City Given to the Members of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 5.—Cool
weather has succeeded the terribly hot weather of the past week for which all G. A. R. men are thankful.
The crowd that is now here to attend the annual encampment of the G. A. R. is immense and thousands are pouring into the city every hour.

Rear Admiral Kelly and his staff arrived this morning and their reception was the first event of the day. It was followed by the opening of the Naval Veterans harbor.

At noon Commander in Chief Gobin arrived and was given a rousing reception, which was followed by the formal opening of his headquarters at 12:30 p. m.

The principal events of this afternoon are the dedication of Camp Sherman, the opening of the Naval Veterans convention and the arrival of the Kentucky contingent, which will be very strong this year.

Cincinnati is today in holiday attire. Everything has been done possible to make the encampment a success, and the veterans of the G. A.
R. are now in charge of the city.

ALL FOR FIFTY CENTS.

Leonard Howard is now a Mur-derer and a Fugitive.

Versailles, Ky., Sept. 5.—For a fifty cent gambling debt, Leonard Howard, of this city, is now a murderer. His victim is Tillman Spears. Both are residents of this county. Howard has escaped but will doubtless soon be arrested. The murder was committed today.

SURPRISE WEDDING.

Short Session of the Police Court.
Several Plain Drunks Were Docketed.

One Man Pleaded Guilty to Petty Larceny—Trouble on the Levee.

Reage Pearce, colored, pleaded guilty to stealing some clothing and other things from a man named Lawrence at a warehouse, and was held over to the grand jury.

Jim Wilkins, for a breach of the peace, was fined $50 and costs. He went down to the home of James Burgess and threatened him with a pistol.

Polly Hicks and Harry Mack were charged with a breach of the peace, and the latter was fined $20 and costs.

Ben Harris, Eli Simms, L. Sullivan, Guy Hart and K. J. Harrison were fined for drunkenness.

There was a theft on the Bob Dudley last night or early this morning. A pair of shoes and one dollar were taken from a colored roaster and the thief, who was also colored, ran.

Mrs. C. B. West, wife of the traveling auditor, returned today
from Chicago.

The Memphis quarantine has
created a great deal of talk today.
It cannot fail to have some effect
upon the business of Paducah, as
well as other places, but there is no
danger of the fever ever getting here,
especially at this time of the year.

Mayor Long tells a good joke on City Clerk Patterson and Chief Hoyer. The mayor recently exchanged his typewriter for a new one,
and was allowed on the old one, $55 on the new. He was told by the company to ship the old one to St.
Louis, and the mayor had Clark Patterson, who was acting as agent for the new concern, to pack it. The clerk and Chief Hoyer spent several hours one night packing the case, and Mayor Lang today received a letter from headquarters, saying that they could not use the bottles and rags found in the case. The gentlemen who packed the supposed typewriter had only packed the case, and left the machine in a drawer. The case was full of bottles and other rubbish, and for this reason they thought the machine was inside.

The mayor is in receipt of a letter from S. L. Usle, of Texas, thanking him for information relative to Frank Wise, who was last heard of here.
The mayor ascertained that Wise went from here to Dexter, Mo., and is now there.

Willis Mount and John Lydon, sal-
loon keepers of West Court street, are in jail serving out the costs on a fine or two assessed against them in the county court a few weeks ago.
They will remain until Friday.

Mayor Lang discovered the rear door to the furniture factory's store room, near the market house, all the people in the city are requested to co-operate.

CHURCH NOTICES.

On next Sabbath the Broadway
Methodist church will begin a revival. The pastor will be assisted by Rev. W. J. McCoy, of Clinton, Ky.
Mr. McCoy has assisted the pastor in four meetings and all were successful. He is an excellent preacher.

TAPPED THE TILL.

Jim Williams, Colored, Arrested
This Afternoon!

Jim Williams went into the Bied-erman Grocery company establishment about noon today, and pulling open the drawer, extracted two or three dollars and ran.

He was pursued out Jackson street
by Officer Jones, and finally took refuge in Mr. Dick Thomasson's stable, on West Jackson. Mr. Thomasson caught him, and Officer Gray, who lives near by, ran over and Williams was turned over to him, and he,
in turn, gave him over to Officer
Jones when the latter arrived.

One dollar and sixty cents was taken from him, and it was found that he gave a darkey in a string band a half dollar.

He was locked up for petty larceny
and will be given a hearing before Judge Sanders tomorrow.

NO SUIT.

The City Is Again Blinded by Promises.

The sewerage men have again succeeded in hoodwinking the city into bringing no suit against Contractor Linn White. A letter received from the latter by Mayor Lang states that he, Mr. White, had arranged with the Paducah Transfer company to do the work, and thought it was being done. He promised, which promise was reiterated by Supt. Erler, to have the streets put in good repair
at once.

The same promise was made before the city got ready to bring suit against the contractor's bondsmen, but they got out of it by making promises, and they have now staved off another one, as the city will not bring the contemplated suit.

CHANGE OF FIRM.

The firm of Brainard and Hol-
man, architects, has been dissolved,
Mr. Holman returning to Chicago and Mr. Brainard remaining in Paducah. Mr. Brainard will locate in the city permanently. He has already been very successful, and has much more business in prospect.

He is the architect of the Murrell building, the Nahm building, and has charge of the repairs on the White and Nagel buildings, and also has charge of the residence being built by Dr. Caldwell.

LABOR DAY.

There Were Many Celebrations
in and About the City.

Attractions Everywhere, and the Working Men Had His Choice.

This is Labor Day, and if appearances are to be relied upon, it has been appropriately commemorated by the hundreds of laboring men and their families in Paducah.

There were various attractions both on this and the other side of the river, and each attraction seemed to get its quota of the crowd.

Across the river elaborate preparations were made for a good time, and many people were over.

At La Belle park there were picnic parties and bicycle races. The barbecue was declared off, as the candidates could not be seated for the occasional, to hold their joint debate.

There was also a good time to be had at Ramona park, and the street cars did a good business.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Illinois Central is to build still another park, in addition to the other already mentioned within the past few days. This is south of the Union depot, between the depot and King's saloon. This will make nearly half a dozen that are to be laid off at once. Park Commissioner William Gentry, of Chicago, arrived this morning to arrange for the parks.

Mrs. C. B. West, wife of the
traveling auditor, returned today
from Chicago.

The Memphis quarantine has
created a great deal of talk today.
It cannot fail to have some effect
upon the business of Paducah, as
well as other places, but there is no
danger of the fever ever getting here,
especially at this time of the year.

Roadmaster H. U. Wallace, of the Illinois Central, is in the city today.

DIED OF THE ATTACK.

Ed Albritton Passes Away at His Home.

Ed Albritton, a young man employed at the Perrine Peanut company, was attacked Saturday afternoon late by something similar to meningitis at the market house.

He was taken to his home on South Fourth street, where he died this morning, without ever having regained consciousness. He was about 25 years old, and leaves a wife and child to mourn his loss.

OPERATED ON FOR APPENDICITIS.

Dr. J. G. Brooks went to Metropolis Saturday and operated on a son of Mr. Dave Austin, a wealthy citizen, for appendicitis. The boy was in a bad condition before the operation was performed, and it is now thought his life can be saved.

HOUSE BURNED.

A small box house belonging to Mr. August Wurth, on the Mayfield road, was destroyed by fire Saturday night, origin unknown. It had been vacant, but a family was moving into
it. The fire department went out, but could not reach the conflagration.

DUTY OF THE COMMITTEE.
It is now but two months until the congressional election, and not only the republicans of the First district have no nominee, but the district committee has not yet met. It seems to us that the committee is very late in getting together, but there is yet time for good and efficient work provided the committee meets right quickly.

We learn that a meeting of the republican district committee will soon be held. It is to be hoped that such is the case and that the committee will shape its actions for the best interests of the republican party. If the committee decides to call a nominating convention it should be called at as early a date as possible.

Although this is an "off" year yet the congressional elections are most important. The administration of President McKinley has successfully concluded the war with Spain; the war has been a war of the people and party politics has cut as little figure thus far as possible; the results of the war have been of the most far reaching kind, and the national policy to be maintained has become the subject of much partisan feeling. It becomes therefore of the utmost importance that the hands of the administration be upheld, that the settlement of the questions raised by the results of the war be effected according to a consistent policy and that "politics" be not allowed to figure at all in our dealings with our new possessions.

The republicans of the First district have a duty to do, and it should be done fearlessly and well, and for this reason the members of the congressional committee should, in their deliberations, look solely to the interests of the party. No factional feelings should be allowed to show themselves. The interests of the party and its duty to the American people are so vast that it ought to be an impossibility for any factional feeling or personal feeling to shape or affect the actions of the committee.

Not in a generation has there been a time when the future of the republican party, both in the nation and in the state, was so full of promise as it is today, nor when the republicans should feel more the responsibility that is open to them to hold up the hands of those in authority.

LABOR DAY.

Labor Day is a national holiday and yet it differs most materially from all the other holidays whose observance have become a part of the established customs of the American people. Labor Day is the most American of all our holidays. It looks to the future and not to the past. It is not commemorative, but festive. Thanksgiving, Fourth of July and Decoration Day, recall the past. Although the lessons derived from them and the patriotic memories aroused, make us better citizens and are pillars of strength to the republic, yet those days are essentially memorial days.

But the lessons of Labor Day look solely to the future. The day was not set apart to commemorate any past event, but it was selected purely for educational purposes; in order that organized labor might have one day in the year when the whole country must give an ear to its appeal, and the attention of the people be devoted to the labor question. The victories won by organized labor in the past are enumerated merely as incentives to renewed exertions in the future, and the whole intent of the day is to prepare the laboring people for a better understanding of the struggle before them.

Organized labor has done a great deal for the laboring people. The child labor laws, factory inspection laws, shorter hours, in many places, arbitration as a means of settling disputes between the employer and the laborer and in many instances better and more regular wages are some of the benefits obtained by organized labor. The indirect benefits are many. By the agitation that has caused, the attention of the public at large and of philanthropic people in particular has been called to the condition of the poorer classes, as a result, we have better tenement houses, more rigid food inspection and sanitary inspection, more public libraries, compulsory education, crusades against sweat shops and many other evidences of the fact that the comforts of life are being made cheaper and the rights of the people are being more respected.

While there is yet a great work to be done, by organized labor, it is yet doubtful if an ultimate solution can ever be reached until human nature becomes radically changed or until popular rights are recognized as being founded on higher laws than those found on our legislative statute books. Labor has an inveterate enemy—competition; but it is competition brought about by machinery and trusts. Every machine throws out one or more operators; every additional trust increases the great army of the unemployed. How to meet the hardship thus resulting is the severest problem of organized labor.

Shorter hours and rigid apprenticeship in the unions, give temporary relief. But each new invention makes the struggle the harder and the more unequal. Some labor writers have suggested that instead of an eight or nine hour law, we should have a six hour law. But that would by no means solve the great question. The world is full of inventive geniuses who are each day increasing the productive capacity of machinery. It is well nigh impossible for legislation to put a stop to the effect of competition. The labor question will never be fully solved until the world recognizes that every man who is willing to work is entitled to a living, and that for every day's work, whatever the number of hours may be, the laborer is entitled to living wages; and it will be the duty of the state or the nation to furnish labor to those who cannot otherwise get it. The world will be far on towards the millennium before this blissful state of affairs is reached, but it is none the less the goal towards which organized labor is now striving.

In the meantime the laboring people—and by laboring people we mean not merely he who works with pick or trowel, or the railroad or factory employee, but all that class of people whose only capital is their muscle, their brains or their time—these people can greatly improve their condition by making a legitimate use of the opportunities offered by organization, by endowing their children with as good an education as their means will permit, by an economical and wise use of the wages that they receive and by an intense realization of the fact that the calling of a day laborer is as honorable and as dignified as any employment that falls to the lot of those more favored.

Honesty and sobriety, a religious training and as good an education as the public schools and one's means will permit are the capital that every laboring man should bequeath to his children. When that is universally done the labor question will be well nigh solved.

A BIG DAMAGE SUIT.

Attorney Hanberry Will Sue the Southern Railway.

Attorney Max Hanberry, of the city, has been employed by Mrs. Henry Bullard to bring suit against the Southern railway for $25,000 damages. Her husband was struck by a train on the 6th of last March, at Cruso, Ala., and as a result lost his mind, and is now in the asylum at Hopkinsville, where he has been since last April.

Miss Hallie Rush Dies of Consumption.

Miss Hallie Rush, daughter of Dr. Rush, died at her home in Metropolis yesterday of consumption, aged about 20.

She is the fourth daughter he has lost in five years from the dread disease. Both he and his wife are living and enjoying good health at the age of about 70.

THE YELLOW FEVER SCARE.

There Is a Big Exodus From the South—Many People Pass Through the City En Route to the North.

Mr. Watkins Goes to New York for Treatment—Memphis Quarantine Against the World.

Other News of Interest.

The yellow fever refugees from southern points continue to pass through the city by the car load, and last night, attached to the cannon-ball, were three special coaches full, in addition to the scores of them in the regular coaches. Most of them seem to come from Mississippi, and few of them stop here, going to Louisville and Cincinnati instead.

This morning the Illinois Central was notified by Memphis that at nine o'clock this morning Memphis quarantined against the world. No one but citizens will be allowed to stop there, and they must have health certificates. A great deal of excitement exists, according to reports.

Mr. L. A. Washington, formerly superintendent of the Evansville division, and who was succeeded by Mr. Egan, has been transferred to Louisville, it is understood. He is a very popular official, and the road no doubt thinks much of his services.

Mr. R. C. Watkins, the popular traveling freight agent of the Illinois Central, whose headquarters were formerly here, but are now in Hopkinsville, left the city last night for New York, for expert medical treatment. Mr. Watkins was injured in a boiler explosion on one of the coaches several months ago, and has not been in good health since. He has gone to New York to consult a specialist.

Mr. Bob McCann, formerly yard master at the Union depot, is now working as extra policeman in place of one of the officers who is ill. He made his first arrest Saturday night, and it was "coca feed" who was his victim.

Mr. Press Flowers, formerly with the Illinois Central, but for the past year with other roads, today went to work again for the I. C. as foreman of one of the yard engines. He is a brother of Baggage Master Flowers, and is a splendid man in the yard.

The train from Louisville was this morning two hours and a half late, occasioned by the heavy travel to Cincinnati, on account of the Grand Army encampment. The road is doing a rushing business.

COMPANY K RUMORS.

It May Be They Will go to Cuba After All.

An officer in company K, writing to a friend here, says that it is reported in camp that in a short time the members of the Third regiment will be granted a month's furlough in order that they may come home and see their friends, and then be sent to Cuba for garrison duty. It will then be cool and the boys are elated over the prospect. The rumor cannot be verified, but it is believed by many of the officers in the regiment.

There are none of company K reported sick except Holland Coleman, who is at Fortress Monroe, and is improving.

MANY ENTRANCE CARDS.

Supt. McBroom Has Issued Three Times the Usual Number.

Supt. Geo. O. McBroom, of the public schools, reports that he has issued already about three times the usual number of entrance cards to the schools, some where near three hundred.

This indicates that the attendance will be as large as predicted this year.

GOODS IDENTIFIED.

They Were Stolen at Ohio, Tennessee Thursday.

Mr. Tom Rosenbloom, of Obion, Tenn., arrived in the city yesterday and identified the goods found in the five valises captured from a negro in a box car Saturday in the Illinois Central yards, as stolen from his store last Thursday night.

About $300 worth of goods were taken, and all of them have not yet been recovered. It is thought that four men were implicated in the burglary. Mr. Rosenbloom left with the goods this morning.

GUAGER MILLER ILL.

He Has Been at the Infirmary for Several Weeks.

U. S. Gusger P. S. Miller, of Cloverport, Ky., is dangerously ill at the Boyd infirmary. He came here on business several weeks ago, and was stricken and has since grown gradually worse.

He has many friends who will be pleased to learn of his condition.

Don't experiment, but get the old reliable Plantation Chill Cure.

Cheap Trip to Cincinnati.

On account of the G. A. R. encampment, the Illinois Central Railroad company will sell tickets to Cincinnati and return on Sept. 3rd to 9th inclusive for $7.00, good returning until Sept. 13th. Subject to extension until Oct. 2nd by depositing return portion of ticket and the payment of 25 cents additional.

QUARTERLY COURT.

Quarterly court began at the court house this morning. County Judge Tully presiding. It will last about three days, and about all the business to be transacted is civil business.

JUSTICE SHEMWELL'S COURT.

Justice Shemwell held court in Mechanicsburg Saturday, and had 26 cases for trial. The most important was a breach of the peace case against Tom Loftin, charged with striking his son-in-law, Ex-Constable Tom Harper, with a shovel, which was dismissed. The case against Harper was continued.

COURT AT SMITHLAND.

Circuit court began at Smithland today. Attorneys I. M. Quigley and John G. Miller went up to file some papers. Col. Quigley the evidence in the case of Walters against the Illinois Central in which the plaintiff was awarded $1,995, and Attorney Miller some papers in the case of Leslie Owen against the road for $2,000. He fell through a bridge on account, it is alleged, of defective machinery.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is a $100 reward offered for the capture of the man who has been able to cause in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. It is a scourge to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional remedy. It is a disease that acts internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby depriving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its curative powers, that they offer One Hun drid dollars for any case that it fails to cure for $100.

TIGER TRAPLE AT CUTTACK.

A Grewsome Sanctuary in India Far from Europe.

Imagine walking right into a tiger's open jaws every Sunday! Yet that is just what the Hindus near Cuttack in India used to do—though, of course, they knew nothing of our Sun—whenever they went to the conclusion that I had better go to school somewhere and that you had better take the business and run it. It cannot help improving under the eye of one so gifted as yourself."—Boston Transcript.

SPECULATED WITH DEATH.

Old Man Gambles on the Life of a Name sake Hermit.

At the age of 85 years H. H. Luce has been speculating on the death of a man bearing his own name. His investment proved a successful one, and the other day the old man went to the city's deadhouse to secure evidence which would enable him to collect the principal and profit on his speculation.

The tiger temple here represented is hewn out of a great mass of rock projecting from a ledge. Probably nature had given it some resemblance to a tiger's head, but the clever stone-workers have carved and shaped it until the likeness is something startling.

A tiger of the ordinary size is bad enough, but here one as big as ten elephants seems to be pushing his ugly nose out from under the overhanging rocks, crouching and ready to spring. The upper jaw and teeth make a sort of portico; the arch over the throat. Through this you apparently pass into the creature's maw, but in fact find yourself in a small, dark chamber, which once contained a hideous idol of some sort. It is only to be hoped that human sacrifices were not offered to appease its wrath.

Then he told his story. He held a life insurance policy on the deceased calling for $2,000. It was a simple business proposition, so Luce said. The policy was in his name, the man was dead. He explained that he was no relative of the deceased, and the other day the old man went to the city's deadhouse to secure evidence which would enable him to collect the principal and profit on his speculation.

He had paid off the policy on his life.

After he had told his story the officials at the morgue asked him to what undertaking parlors the body of his dead friend should be taken.

"None. Better leave him here and let him be buried by the city," said the

FOR A JOKE, OR FOR NECESSITY

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

An interesting article, and one along a new line, is to be found in the September Cosmopolitan, by Tauron Peck. It is entitled "The Morality of Perfumes," and tends to show that a person's tastes, temperament, habits and even intelligence, may be deduced from the kind of perfume or odor he or she prefers. It also tends to show that the sense of smell, perhaps the least thought of and most neglected of them all, holds out great possibilities for the investigating mind, and that in the progress of science will be proven to be one of the most important of them all, and one wielding one of the greatest influences over people's lives.

It is commendable for young men—budding manhood, as the novelist would put it—to foster a fond desire to discourse sweet music to sooth the ear of his fellow-beings, but if reports are true, it is not a healthful diversion for young men belonging to a brass band—in embryo—to practice in the midst of a civilized neighborhood, where the people like to sleep. Some of the residents of West Jackson have complained of an attraction out that way in the nature of a mighty music massacre, and while they would like to see the boys leave, say they would prefer that the process of learning be confined, say to the region near the old fair ground.

The barber replied: "Well, sir, it's like this. It ain't to soften the bristles; no need for that, seein' we have three kinds, 'ard, medium and soft, to cut all 'ends.' It's about like this. One of the men we had here was a funny kind of chap, and when some of us were complainin' about how tired a long day's work made us he told us about this dodge and declared we could keep ourelves up to the scratch by it. He said it was all over, we all laughed at him, but another we tried it on and found it worked. It's wonderful what a lot of electricity some people have in their 'ends,' especially those that have thick 'air.' It varies, of course, and I should not like to lay down any 'ard and fast rule, but as far as my experience goes the dark bluish-black seems to give out the most, though the very light flaxen hair the black close. Now, when you consider what a lot of men come here to 'ave their 'air' cut, you can easily understand that we 'air' dressers get a good deal of free electricity every day. It's very rare that the current is what you could call strong, but occasionally I've had some 'ods' to do when I've really 'ad to take my fingers off the bristles. As a rule it's just a pleasant kind of a prickle that you can feel running out of the bristles into your fingers and then down your side and sometimes right down to your foot. It has a wonderful bracing effect, so that sometimes at six o'clock I'll feel better and brisker than when I start work in the morning. Spread the current? Oh, yes, sir, easily, by using just one hand and then the other as the conductor."—N. Y. Sun.

A young man whose pressing business sometimes prompts him to perform dressy duties such as calls from young lady friends, the other day hit upon a good plan for getting away from a fair but persistent caller. While in the midst of a conversation, which he could not terminate and at the same time maintain his reputation for gallantry, the telephone rang, and he hastened to answer. He told the young lady he was called away, and of course she, too, departed. The joke was that he was not called away but simply pretended like he was.

A day or two afterwards two other young ladies of whom he was very fond, dropped in and began chatting him, and he laughingly related what a successful method he had of getting rid of the aforesaid young lady. Just as he had finished and they were all laughing over it, the telephone rang and one of the young ladies exclaimed: "Well! if he hasn't had the telephone rung on us!" and nothing would induce them to stay.

The young man in the case has concluded that sometimes the telephone proves a false friend.

When Al G. Field was in Lexington Friday, he was royally entertained by the Elks of which he is a member. Mr. Field will shortly be in Paducah, and is probable that he will be entertained by Paducah Club, with whom he has always been a favorite.

Speaking of bankruptcy petitions, they will prove an inestimable boon to actors compelled to pay alimony. The first actor to file one was Robert Mantell, who is compelled to pay $65 a week to a former wife and wants to get out of it.

Councilman J. M. Ezell put on his suit yesterday for the first time in several weeks, and found when he arose this morning that it had become decidedly cooler. He expects a cold wave within a day or two, as he still has on the suit.

A STUDY IN BULLETINS.

How the Spaniard Is Slowly Made Aware of the Painful Facts.

In Spain evil tidings seem to reverse the usual custom by traveling slowly. This peculiarity was especially noticeable in the case of the disaster to the Cervera fleet. Here, for instance, is about the way the news of the Schley victory reached Madrid. It came in easy stages and by cumulative approaches, and seemed, as it were, to illustrate a new theory of evolutionary truth-telling.

It is understood that Admiral Cervera has taken his fleet from under the very noses of the Yankee pigs, and sailing through their midst has calmly and deliberately withdrawn to a port previously decided upon.
